

Student Knowledge Exchange

Overview

Student knowledge exchange is a rapidly evolving area of interest and opportunity within the Higher Education sector. As we begin to consider what the future looks like for this innovative area of knowledge exchange, it is crucial we take the opportunity to reflect upon and share the value, impact and challenges we have faced through our work in student KE. This session will be a space for dialogic learning with colleagues involved in student KE, providing the opportunity to share best practice, lessons learnt and to explore what the future of student knowledge exchange can achieve together.

Call for Speakers

We are seeking contributions from colleagues who are involved in supporting or engaging with student knowledge exchange in its many forms. Colleagues are invited to submit a proposal for a 2-minute introductory talk that will be followed by a series of round-table discussions (3 x 15 minutes) facilitated by the individual(s) delivering the opening talk. The roundtable discussions will build on the work/initiative/project (etc.) introduced at the beginning of the session, providing an opportunity for dialogue and learning between attendees. We are interested in submissions that explore: co-production, inclusion and accessibility, place-based approaches, capturing impact, policy and practice, and innovative and entrepreneurial approaches within student KE. However, we also encourage submissions that fall outside of these outlined categories. Please indicate in your submission what themes or topics you would be interested in exploring further within your round-table discussion.

Please send your submission to Katie Stote.

Your submission should be 200 - 300 words
